

ANOTHER RIOT ON B. R. T. LINE THIS MORNING

COMPANY STILL HOLDING OUT

THIRTEEN PEOPLE HURT LAST NIGHT IN A COLLISION ON THE ROAD.

Attempting to Collect Double Fare and Thousands are Compelled to Walk.

New York, Aug. 15.—There was a riot on the Brooklyn Rapid Transit railroad this morning at Kensington over assaults made on passengers who refused payment of the excess fare to Coney Island. Several were arrested. Two hundred citizens, fifty policemen and several employees of the company fought. The row was started when Siegfried Guggenheim, a real estate dealer, refused to pay the extra fare. The company is still persistent in its attempt to collect the second fare and the assaults and brutality to passengers who refuse payment continue. Many cars filled with passengers were on sidings this morning. The passengers enjoying themselves wrecking cars until nothing breakable was left for revenge of the public. The company discontinued running all trolley cars to Coney Island during the night. Thousands were compelled to walk long distances to their homes.

Thirteen persons were hurt in a collision between cars of the system at Dead Man's curve near Coney Island creek last night. The cars became stalled on the curve and others hurrying to make up lost time in the hurried double fare fight, crashed full speed into them. The collision threw the passengers into a panic. Women and children were trampled upon in the scramble to get out.

BROWNE'S RELEASE

Ordered Because His Incarceration
Was Violation of Treaty.

New York, Aug. 15.—Charles E. Browne, former examiner of silks in the government customs service in this city, was ordered released from Sing Sing prison by Judge Hough of the United States court on a writ of habeas corpus. Browne was recently brought back from Canada, where he fled after giving bail, and was taken direct to prison. His counsel claimed this was in violation of the extradition treaty between the United States and Canada.

Counsel for Browne contended that he was practically kidnapped. In the opinion, discharging Browne from custody, Judge Hough declared that there is no authority vested in the United States government to seize or hold a person extradited in pursuance of treaty provisions except on the charge of which the extradition was granted.

BOUNCERS ARRESTED.

Then the Company Stopped Running Surface Cars to Seaside.

New York, Aug. 15.—Six inspectors used to bounce passengers from the Coney Island cars are under arrest.

After the arrest of three inspectors of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit company on charges of assault in the third degree, the company shut off entirely all of its surface lines leading to Coney Island, taking the position that this was the only way to stop the rioting in progress since Sunday morning at points where a second fare was demanded by the company.

The elevated and express train services to the seaside resort were augmented. The inspectors arrested are William Hefferman, William C. Newberry and Frederick J. Galliver, all of whom were taken into custody on warrants sworn out by passengers ejected from cars. The employees were bailed in the sum of $500 each.

Later three more inspectors of the Brooklyn line were arrested on warrants charging assault and sworn out by passengers. They were Frederick Lewis, James Tierney, Frank Perri. Stopping the surface car traffic had the effect of quieting disturbances, and the company claims it will not attempt to run the surface cars through to Coney Island at rush hours until all danger of rioting is past.

CZAR NICHOLAS

Reviews Troops Without Incident—
Soldiers Laughed When Little Prince Cried.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 15.—The review of the troops at Krasnoye Selo by the Czar passed off without incident. It was designed for the purpose of strengthening the loyalty of the soldiers. Forty-eight battalions of infantry, twenty batteries of Maxim guns, 39 squadrons of cavalry and the artillerymen in charge of 174 guns were reviewed. Cheers greeted the emperor from all the soldiers at this, his first appearance before any body of troops since the troubles in Russia began. Among the Czar's advisers the belief is that the purpose of the display was accomplished.

The baby heir to the throne was with his father. As the review started the child began crying. The Czar took the prince in his arms and held him beside him in the saddle amid the laughter and cheers of the troops.

ELSIE GIBSON'S RIDE TO NEWARK ABOARD ENGINE

OPERA SINGER HIRES SPECIAL AND MAKES RECORD BREAK-ING RUN.

31 1-2 MILES IN 22 MINUTES

Girl Missed Train in Columbus, Had to Be Here, So She Hired an Engine.

Did Miss Elsie Gibson, the Idlewild Park opera singer, make a flying run from Columbus to Newark Tuesday night on board a B. and O. freight engine in 22 minutes or was the story given out for publication by her manager for advertising purposes?

The Advocate's correspondent at Columbus investigated the story from that end of the line and wired at 3 p. m. that it was a "fake." While a man in the B. and O. dispatcher's office at 11 o'clock last night confirmed the story over the phone to an Advocate man, giving the number of the engine used, the engineer's name and the time made on the run, an official of the B. and O. superintendent's office said at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon that the story was not true and that the woman had not ridden on an engine and that no special train was run.

The manager of the Herald Square company who Tuesday night vouched for the truth of the story could not be located Wednesday afternoon. Neither could Miss Gibson be found at her hotel. At any rate here is the story. True or not it is interesting:

Whistling through the air at a rate of over a mile a minute, and clinging frantically to the arm of the oily engineer as the glistering steel was swallowed up by the iron monster—such was the experience of Miss Elsie Gibson, prima donna of the Herald Square Opera Company which has been appearing at Idlewild park for the past week in a return engagement when she flew to Newark in just 22 minutes, from Columbus, arriving at the West Newark crossing at 8:37, enabling the performance to proceed only twenty minutes late.

Miss Gibson, who is unusually pretty, was in Columbus with other members of the Herald Square company Tuesday afternoon for the purpose of having some photographs made at the studio of a well known theatrical photographer. By the time that Miss Gibson was ready to leave Columbus, the regular evening passenger over the B. & O. had already gone, there were no trains over the Pennsylvania line which would reach this city in time for the show at Idlewild, and the traction line would not get her here until 9:45. Naturally picturing the look of stern disgust and disappointment on the face of her manager, Mr. Kintzing, she tearfully telephoned him and as quickly as possible told him of the predicament in which she found herself. The manager's words were, "Come at any cost. Hire a train if necessary, but be here."

All of this time the play house at Idlewild was filling rapidly, and all of this time Manager Kintzing was realizing that he had no one who knew the role of "Zerlina" in Fra Diavolo well enough to sing it through. He must have Miss Gibson. He hurried to the B. & O. officials at this end of the road, but soon found that Miss Gibson had partly arranged for a special to Newark. She sent a message here stating that the railroad wanted a guarantee of $100. The manager wired back: "One hundred, or five hundred, send her at once," at the same time appreciating the fact that in the end it would possibly do the company over that much damage in case a performance were to be called off.

The next telephone message received from Columbus told of the leaving of the nifty young woman on engine 2585, in charge of Engineer J. O. Mitchell. No coach could be secured in time so that only the engine left Columbus Union station at just 8:15, and at 8:37 it stopped at the Union street crossing panting and spitting fire as the dainty little woman, sooty and black as the ace of spades, hustled down off the steps and hurried to the casino to take her usual place in the performance.

The run was a record breaker over this division of the B. & O. as never before was the distance of 31 1-2 miles covered in 22 minutes between Columbus and Newark, and Engineer Mitchell deserves a medal for the way in which he handled his engine at such a speed.

When asked by an Advocate reporter a few minutes after arrival here how she enjoyed her hair-raising whirl through the air, Miss Gibson replied with a long breath and a smile, "Whew! What a sensation! It was dangerous, but great! I forgot to be nervous." (Continued on Page 3, 2d Col.)

HADLEY SAYS STANDARD OIL COMPANY IS NO BETTER THAN BURGLAR OR PICKPOCKET

Alton, Ill., Aug. 15.—Attorney General Hadley of Missouri in an address here declared that the Standard Oil system of business is as criminal as the business of a burglar or pickpocket and that justice requires that every state in the Union enact and enforce laws that will mete out the same justice to great corporations carrying on business in restraint of trade unlawfully as to the man who robs a house or picks a pocket.

Public sentiment, he declared, would not countenance an attorney who would not countenance as an attorney for unlawful acts the giving to colleges and universities vast sums for this year $30 a share.

G. A. R. PARADE AT MINNEAPOLIS 15,000 MEN MARCH

RANKS OF VETERANS GROWING
THINNER AS THE YEARS PASS BY.

AN ENJOYABLE CAMP FIRE

Brown of Zanesville, Who Wants to be Commander, One of the Speakers.

Minneapolis, Aug. 15.—Impressive and solemn was the 40th grand parade of the remaining comrades of the G. A. R. today. Realization came to the spectators as the veterans hobbled by that the end of the parade feature is not far distant. Many were the pitiful sights as the line deployed in straggling fashion through the streets.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 15.—After a most enjoyable campfire, the next big feature of the G. A. R. encampment was the annual parade.

For the great parade Wednesday is a holiday throughout the city. About 15,000 men were in line. The line of march was about two miles in length. The first move toward securing the national encampment of 1907 was made by the New York delegation, which announced its intention of getting it at possible for Saratoga.

Despite a hot and sultry day the reunions of the various regiments were carried through with great success. There was not a floor in any of the hotels nor a hall in the city which did not hold the survivors of some organization that was in the field during the war. Some of the gatherings were largely attended, others confined to not more than a half dozen of the original regimental members.

The reunions in the majority of cases did not last long and the veterans were soon on their way to visit some of the points of interest about the city. Receptions were also held by members of the Women's Relief Corps and other organizations of a similar character, all of them keeping open house. The feature of the evening was a large campfire held in the auditorium which packed the structure to its utmost capacity. Addresses were made by Gov. Johnson, Commander-in-Chief Tanner, R. B. Brown of Zanesville, O., candidate for commander of the Grand Army, and a number of others.

The fight for commander-in-chief became active and bitter. Many copies of a circular attacking the war record of Captain P. H. Coney of Kansas, a prominent candidate, were handed around. The circular was not signed and Captain Coney declared that the attack was so utterly baseless as to be almost beneath his notice. He contented himself by giving it a simple denial and referring all persons who desired information as to his war record to the history of the 11th New York infantry.

Three members of the Grand Army have passed away since the commencement of the encampment. J. H. Burke of Burlington, Kan., fell dead while standing in front of the clerk's desk in the Pauline hotel. Death was caused by apoplexy induced by the heat of the day. George H. Smith, a former member of the First New York infantry, who was visiting relatives in the city, was killed down by a horse which was driven rapidly around a corner just as he was about to take a streetcar. He was removed to a hospital, but died in a short time of concussion of the brain.

MAN KILLED IN RUNAWAY NEAR HANOVER VILLAGE

CRIPPLED MAN CAUGHT IN A WHEEL AND DRAGGED ON ROAD 100 YARDS.

VICTIM D. C. WILHELM, AGE 65

Horse Frightened at Motor Cycles—
Mr. Wilhelm Was on His Way to Hanover.

A terrible accident which resulted in the loss of a life occurred near Hanover, this county, Tuesday evening about four o'clock. Mr. D. C. Wilhelm, aged 65 years, who has been a total cripple for the past fifteen years was the victim of the accident. Mr. Wilhelm's home was 1 1-2 miles north of Black Hand.

About three o'clock in the afternoon Mr. Wilhelm expressed a desire to go to Hanover to transact some business. He was placed in his buggy by his hired man and had progressed about half way to Hanover when his horse frightened at two motor cycles that were passing. Mr. Wilhelm was thrown from his buggy, was caught in the wheels and was dragged along the road for a distance of over one hundred yards. He was picked up by parties who had witnessed the accident and taken to his home. Dr. Postle of Black Hand and Dr. Roberts of Hanover were called, and later Dr. H. T. Sutton of Zanesville was summoned.

An investigation showed that the man's right leg had been broken, both shoulders dislocated and the right arm broken, and that he had sustained internal injuries. He breathed his last at 11:10 o'clock Tuesday night.

The deceased is survived by his widow, two daughters and one brother.

TROUBLE IN TEXAS

Fort Worth, Texas, Aug. 15.—The presence of rioting negro troops in Brownsville will not be tolerated by the authorities and the indications are today that state troops will be ordered there for the protection of the people against drunken soldiers. The killing of one man, the fatal wounding of another and the attempted outrage upon women constitute a chapter not lightly to be condoned. The spitting of a residence with rifle bullets all because the saloons refused the drinks to the soldiers seems to be the incentive for the dauntless action of the negroes. This situation is somewhat serious today.

A brother of Davis was lynched 12 years ago for assaulting a white woman.

War of Balloons

AT CINCINNATI'S GREAT INDUSTRIAL SHOW.

"The Blue Moon" and "Fighting the Flame" Spectacles of Fall Festival.

CINCINNATI, O., August 15.—Years ago Cincinnati was given the name "The Mother of Expositions." Those industrial shows of old pale in comparison with the Fall Festival held on the site of earlier triumphs of National prominence. The Festival of 1906—the first in three years—will eclipse in every way all its predecessors.

On the night of the opening, August 28, a war of balloons will afford an aerial spectacle of a magnitude never before attempted. Twenty thousand 14-foot paper balloons will be sent up all over Cincinnati at a given signal, and while dynamite bombs hurled high are exploding, sending their thunderous echoes for miles around, the entire sky will be covered with the flaming voyagers of the air. The balloon will collide with balloon and the sight will be one of unique novelty.

The Fall Festival is to last four weeks, and has been well defined as a "World's Fair in Tabloid Form." The Washington Park shows are grouped around the fountain and will be on the order of the famous "Lake" at St. Louis and include "The Hippodrome," patterned after New York's big amusement palace; the Temple of Art, Halls of Tours, House of Nonsense and Palace of Aladdin. The Backwoods Inn is a place of refreshment and vaudeville combined. Paris has her Chateau de Morte, and the Fall Festival House of Death is a miniature of one of the most famous cafes in the world. The service will be on coffee, and under the glass at the head of each black casket will blink the red eyes of a grinning skull. The chairs will be made of whitened bones.

These shows are merely incidental to great industrial features and a Government Exhibit worth talking about. At Music Hall, "The Blue Moon," staged by the Shuberts through the courtesy of the Heuck Opera House Company of Cincinnati, Lessees of the Lyric Theatre, will be given its first American presentation. This is the musical spectacle that enthused London for over a year. It cost $75,000 to place "The Blue Moon" in American atmosphere. James T. Powers is the leading comedian of the star cast and 250 people take part.

"Fighting the Flames"—the show which has made such tremendous hits at Luna Park, Coney Island, and at the White City, in Chicago—will be put on "back of the Exposition Building, the scene of "Marco Polo's" success. Claude Hagen, who originated the spectacle of fire fighting, is in charge of the Cincinnati construction.

The Fall Festival is Cincinnati's greatest amusement and industrial offering to the country, and preparations are now under way to entertain hundreds of thousands of visitors from August 28 to September 22. Special round-trip rates to Cincinnati have been made by all the railroads—an official ruling that stamps the importance of the Fall Festival as a National event.

LABOR DAY AT
BUCKEYE LAKE PARK
ON SEPTEMBER 3

Labor Day, Monday, September 3, will be a big occasion in the history of organized labor of Newark, for on that day one of the largest picnics ever given by union men and women will be held at Buckeye Lake.

At a meeting of the general committee for Labor Day on Tuesday night in the Trades Council room, considerable work was mapped out, arrangements made for the music and the advertising. There will be a big program of amusements and there will also be speaking by men of national reputation.

Labor organizations will not be expected to turn out in a body or in uniform as the affair will be in the nature of a fair outing.

Some objection has been made to the people going out of Newark on Labor Day. The members of the committee say, however, that there is no money on hand by which to have a celebration in Newark, and as a large majority of the working men of the city desire to go to Buckeye Lake on Labor Day, they will spend the day there.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by heart disease, pneumonia, heart
failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney is poisoned and will attack the vital organs of the body and break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles most always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The result and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.
Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and sold in all drug stores in fifty-cent and one-dollar bottle. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discoverer and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address: Dr. Kilmer & Co.,

SMYSER NAMED
BY REPUBLICANS

CONGRESSIONAL TRIP TO INDORSED CANDIDACY OF
MR. F. L. BEGGS.

Meeting in Music Hall Wednesday Afternoon Short, as Late Had Been Arranged.

The Republican congressional convention transacted its business in a quarter of an hour Wednesday afternoon. Mr. L. Smyser was nominated by acclamation. F. L. Beggs of Newark, was indorsed for state dairy and food commissioner.

The Seventeenth District Republican congressional convention met at the Music Hall Wednesday afternoon merely for their purpose of making public what had already been out and dried previous to the assembling of the delegates of the district in the city.

Delegates to the convention began to arrive early in the morning. Coshocton's "37" was the first to come on the scene, and others arrived on the afternoon trains. Judge Smyser, who was renominated, arrived with the first delegation shortly after the noon hour and with the band at the head of the procession which numbered a few of the more loyal Republicans, was escorted to the Warden Hotel.

During the morning a number of the Ohio Republicans who are nominating for the Republican convention for secretary of state were busy mung-ling with the delegates, feeling their pulses and making friends for their support later in the summer. Among those were Carmel Thompson of Ironton, E. F. West of Youngstown, and
A. S. Cummings of Lorain.

There developed during the morning a feeling of coldness between Licking county's candidate for dairy and food commissioner, Frank L.
Beggs, and the dick machine in this district, which, while it did not assume the proportions of open antagonism, was very noticeable. However the convention, after some discussion, indorsed Mr. Beggs' candidacy.

Briggs S. Young, of Hardin county, also a candidate for dairy and food commissioner was on the scene looking after his interests.

Hon. E. S. Sauer of New Philadelphia, addressed the convention and presented Prosecuting Attorney Jas
Glen of Coshocton county, as temporary chairman, and E. C. Dix of Wooster as chairman of the committee on resolutions. General Critchfield of Wayne county, who was over here from Columbus, moved to make a temporary organization and took the organization in charge of the temporary organization.

Mormonism Condemned by Idaho Democrats.

Test oaths are not popular in the United States, but they have been employed under the stress of necessity, and abandoned when the reason vanished. The Idaho state constitution provides for such an oath, which would disfranchise the avowed Mormon, as he is known in actual faith and practice in that commonwealth. Now the Idaho Democrats have boldly pronounced in favor of enacting legislation to make that oath, operative. This is brave action, and a party courageous in thus defining its intended course, if entrusted with power, deserves success.

Indubitable proof exists that in Idaho there is a Mormon hierarchy, and abandoned when the reason vanished. Whether the professing Mormon is also a polygamist secretly or not, or whether he has abjured sincerely belief in that pernicious doctrine and blight upon the American idea of home and family, the one fact is established that the Mormon church as an organization seeks to dictate, and has dictated, the political fate of candidates and the issue of large questions. The entire theory of free political thought and action is destroyed, and under the behests of the apostles the Mormon voters act.

It is now too late for the Mormon to find sanctuary under the American principles of religious freedom. For years that was the befuddling argument, exploited to uphold the crime of polygamy itself. They cried that it was persecution to punish for a tent of their creed. When thought grew clearer, and the repugnance of all decent people found the falsity of such specious excuses, there came the laws against polygamy, as only another name for an infidelity known since the family life began.

It is a notorious fact that there has been a close alliance between the Mormon church and Republican politicians in Utah, Idaho, and other western states. This alliance has been so strong that all efforts to oust Reed Smoot, the Mormon apostle, from the United States Senate have failed. Had the Senate acted like the Idaho Democrats, Smoot would have been fired long since. And yet the Republican party started its political existence by condemning polygamy as a "crime of barbarism."

seem to be elated over the dollar subscription plan for raising the campaign funds. It takes a long time to rake in as much money by this process, as a big trust corporation would subscribe in ten minutes. This is why Chairman Sherman and the other Republican managers would not favor passing the bill before Congress prohibiting political contributions by corporations. The dollar subscription farce will be the joke of the campaign before election time and then the big corporations will be called upon by the Republican managers to put up as usual.

Two years ago the Republicans engaged in much talk about Hanna, Herrick, Harding and Harmony. Hanna is gone, Herrick was shelved last fall, and it is believed that Harding is hibernating. As to Harmony, it is a very scarce article in Republican ranks in Ohio this year.

DEMOCRATIC STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE.
FRANK HARRIS, Chairman.
HENRY I. BUELL, Acting Secy.

FRANCIS H. SMITH A FAMOUS REPORTER

Who Was One of First Men to Report
Daniel Webster's Speeches, Dies
in Washington.

Washington, Aug. 15.—Francis H. Smith, one of the first official reporters of congressional debates, died at Washington, Conn., where he was born March 11, 1829. For many years he was a prominent banker here. Daniel Webster was one of the first men Smith reported in congress. Later Smith reported the court martial of the Lincoln conspirators and the subsequent trial of John H. Surratt. Another famous trial he covered was that of General Daniel Sickles for the killing of District Attorney Key.

To Separate Troops.

Leavenworth, Kan., Aug. 15.—It was stated at Fort Leavenworth that plans are being perfected to have all colored troops in the United States army stationed at one post because of race feeling that exists at many points where both white and colored soldiers are stationed. It is said that a southern post probably will be selected for the colored troops.

MRS. GREENE'S SON IS NOMINATED

THREE POLITICAL CONVENTIONS ARE HELD IN THE STATE OF TEXAS.

Democrats Applaud Reference to Mr. Bryan—Nebraska Fusion—Bryan's Yale Reception.

Houston, Texas, Aug. 15.—The faction of the Republican party of Texas known as the "reorganized" held its state convention here. E. H. R. Green of Terrell, president of the Texas Midland railroad and son of Mrs. Hetty Green of New York, was nominated for governor, and J. C. Gibbons, formerly mayor of Paris, Texas, for lieutenant governor. The resolutions adopted strongly commend the national administration and denounce Cecil A. Lyon who is the regular state chairman and Republican national committeeman for Texas. A state executive committee was organized. W. M. McDonald, colored, of Terrell, was named as national committeeman and will contest the right of Cecil A. Lyon to the place. The platform dealt with national and state issues along the usual lines.

There was considerable enthusiasm when the name of W. H. Taft secretary of war, was mentioned.

Texas Democrats.

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 15.—With 700 delegates and more than 4,000 spectators, what promises to be the most exciting state convention ever held by the Democracy of Texas since 1892, when the party split and nominated James S. Hogg and George Clark for governor, opened here. The first session was devoted to the usual preliminaries of effecting temporary organization, Judge Joseph E. Cockrell of Dallas being named as temporary chairman, and to some special speech-making, and was frictionless and harmonious. Senator Cullerton was not present, but Senator Bailey received an ovation and spoke briefly.

Senator Bailey said prospects for the national triumph of Democratic principles are excellent. He said it has already been determined whom the nominee would be, meaning Mr. Bryan, and the declaration evoked wild applause.

Nebraska Fusion.

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 15.—Prospects seem good for fusion between Nebraska Democrats and Populists, both of whom are holding their state conventions here. Sole interest centers in the nomination for governor. George W. Barge of Lincoln has no opposition in the Populist convention and will probably be named by acclamation. Among the Democrats it is Berge against the field, with the opposition apparently unable to unite. If there is to be a split between the two parties it will be over the head of the ticket. It is a foregone conclusion that the Democrats will give the heartiest endorsement of Bryan as a presidential nominee and it is possible the Populists may declare for him also.

Kansas Co-Operative Club.

Topeka, Kan., Aug. 15.—I. M. York, a professor of economy in Leland Stanford university for several years, issued a call by which he hopes to organize a new political party in this state, to be known as the Kansas Co-operative club. The party, it is intended, will not make a campaign until 1908, the intervening being spent in getting the organization perfected throughout the state.

Bryan's Yale Reception.

New Haven, Conn., Aug. 15.—At a meeting of the New Haven Democratic club to make arrangements for the reception of William J. Bryan, who comes here Aug. 31, it was announced that among the speakers at the complimentary banquet would be John J. Lentz of Ohio, ex-Governor Garvan of Rhode Island, and George Fred Williams of Massachusetts.

Texas Prohibitionists.

Terrell, Tex., Aug. 15.—The Prohibition state convention, after adopting the usual resolutions in regard to liquor traffic, commenced such express companies as refuse to deliver c. o. d. packages in local option districts. Ex-Governor John P. St. John of Kansas addressed the convention.

Nominated for Congress.

Marysville, O., Aug. 15.—The Democrats of the Eighth congressional district in convention nominated Homer Southard of Marysville for congress.

GLOOM OR GINGER?

Both Are Found Lurking in Your Breakfast, Dinner and Supper.

Not many people realize that the easiest way to affect the brain is through the stomach. The most common illustration of this is the result of drinking whiskey of any intoxicating drink. The same is true as to any article of food.

And you have probably at times eaten something that lay like a lump of lead on your stomach. You can't forget how it makes you feel—grogginess, discomfort and peevish. That's because everything that affects the stomach affects the brain! If your stomach feels good, you will.

But not everything will have an effect on the brain. Pie won't. Neither will grease or fat. That's because there is no nourishment in them, they simply create heat but no strength. They make the stomach work overtime, make you dreary and your brain foggy.

Nature has made the cereals to supply the brain and muscles of the world. The most intensely nourishing cereals are wheat and barley. By eating these you get the greatest amount of strength and blood-fibre it is possible to get from any other food in the world.

That's what Hardyfood is made of—wheat and malted barley. Every particle of indigestible material found in them is thrown out, and there is left nothing but the very life of the grain—the purest wheat and barley.

You can eat Hardyfood for breakfast, dinner or supper, or noonday luncheon, with cream and it will taste delicious.

Often you sit at table and don't know what you want. Just eat Hardyfood. It will satisfy that peculiar craving in your stomach, make you feel as though you had had a fulsome, delicious meal, and without any of the bad after effects. It will make your stomach feel clear, and you will smile and be good natured. That's the object. Smiles first with success.

Hardyfood builds brain, bone, brawn and nerve, because it contains the most nourishing foods in the world.

You can't get muscle from a tenderloin steak; you can't remember things any better by eating ham. These things make fat—all fat and no brain.

Hardyfood gives the maximum of nerve and brain force, and demands the minimum of digestion. You hardly need a stomach to digest it.

It will make you feel good all over. It is the life of the whole family. Buy Hardyfood of any grocer for 10c. a package.

PATTISON'S DEATH

Charged Up in Convention to Republican Politicians—Scandal Against a Republican Congressman.

Marysville, O., Aug. 15.—The Democrats of the Eighth Congressional District, composed of Champaign, Hancock, Hardin, Delaware, Logan and Union counties, at their convention here yesterday nominated Homer Southard of Marysville, for Congress. Southard is a member of the State Central committee from this district. In seconding Southard's nomination Henry McCracken of Urbana, said that Congressman Ralph Cole of Findlay, the Republican candidate, who is up for re-election, had been entertaining a hundred barmaids at Cedar Point for the last three months, instead of representing his constituents. He condemned Congressman Cole's actions in many ways.

Resolutions were adopted deploring the death of Governor Pattison. William J. Bryan was endorsed for the Presidency, and Attorney Samuel A. Hoskins of Wanakena, formerly of Union county, for Secretary of State. One section of the resolution says:

"We denounce the Republican machine bossed by Dictator Dick of the Republican State Executive committee, and Chairman Gould of the Republican State Central committee, and the Warden of the Ohio Penitentiary, for using his power to embarrass the late Governor while living and thus hastening his death. These worthies are now reaping the reward of their inhuman conduct by securing the reappointment from servile state administration, of the very men who were voted out of office last fall. The people who then administered a rebuke to these bosses are insulted, and the lesson they taught is sneered at."

Dynamite Outrage.

Dubuque, Ia., Aug. 15.—Some one placed dynamite on the front steps of the Dubuque club building, and an explosion followed, wrecking one of the pillars at the entrance and many windows. This is the second outrage of the kind in two months. No one was hurt.

Victim of Drug Habit.

St. Paul, Aug. 15.—Despondent because a victim of the drug habit, Mrs. Bertha Leroy, wife of a Minneapolis furrier, drowned herself in the lake at Como park. Mrs. Leroy is said to have contracted the drug habit as the result of an operation for appendicitis.

FINE OLD HEN IS A RAT KILLER

WM. EVANS' BIRD ENTITLED TO WEAR CHAMPIONSHIP BELT AT LANCASTER.

Dozen Dead Rodents in Yard All of Which Chicken Has Killed in Easy Fashion.

Lancaster, O., Aug. 15.—Wm. Evans, residing on North Maple street, owns a Plymouth Rock hen that is entitled to wear the championship belt for being a fighter. Mr. Evans is a great chicken fancier and every season raises a large number of chickens. He has never been inconvenienced any by rats until this spring and summer, when a number of small chickens have been killed and the eggs in the nest broken and on several occasions half grown ducks have been killed by the rodents.

The hen has been the particular sufferer in the flock, it having had no fewer than 25 chicks in her broods killed. The hen evidently thought the matter over and came to the conclusion that the best way out of the difficulty was to take a hand in the killing. Mr. Evans' attention was attracted by a commotion in the chicken yard. Upon investigation he found the hen engaged in mortal combat with an immense rat. The hen was jabbing at the rodent with its beak, and then throwing it in the air. Finally the rat was killed and the hen cackled loudly to show its pride. Mr. Evans later found 12 dead rats lying about the yard, all having been picked to death by the hen, which bore no marks of the fray.

Shot From Ambush.

Marietta, I. T., Aug. 15.—The killing of Dr. Graham of Holder, I. T., who was shot about a month ago by Ben Steward, was avenged when unknown persons shot Steward from ambush killing him instantly. Cal Steward, brother of the dead man, eluded the assassins by whipping his horse into a run.

TOLEDO PROBING BRINGS RESULTS

AN IMPORTANT WITNESS IN THE INVESTIGATION IS MR. W. R. BURT.

Says He Coaxed Employees of Road to Become Stockholders in Ice Company.

Toledo, O., Aug. 15.—Federal investigation of the great refrigerator car companies of the country may result from the interstate commerce commission's hearing now on here covering the ice trade relations of certain railroads. It is alleged illegal rebates were given the refrigerator companies by the railroads on icing charges making it possible for large concerns to practically monopolize the icing refrigerator car business and bring commission men all over the country within their power. The investigation laid yesterday when the Ann Arbor railroad was under fire on discrimination charges in the ice trade, suddenly switched and followed a lead of evidence pointing to big rebates and discriminations favoring the refrigerator companies when H. E. Myers, the local freight agent of the Pere Marquette railroad was questioned concerning trade relations with the Armour Refrigerating company. He said icing charges against Armour were objected to by the Chicago concern. The Pere Marquette was asked to remove the charges.

Toledo, O., Aug. 15.—An important witness in the ice trust and railway investigation was Wellington R. Burt, once receiver and president of the Ann Arbor railroad. Mr. Burt testified he was president of the road when the Toledo Ice and Coal company was organized, that he suggested the organization and coaxed employees of the railroad to become stockholders in the concern, but claims he did not know the road carried freight for the ice company free of charge. He knew the ice company was using the railroad real estate but this was done by other companies which produce freight. In regard to free or reduced freight rates for the ice company Burt said it is the custom to haul freight at half rates for building up industries.

When asked by Commissioner Clements if he did not think it bad policy for an official of a railroad to be interested in industries along the line and thus be in position to discriminate in rate, Burt replied that if he had it to do over again he would do exactly as he did in order to build up the business of his road.

Employees of the Ann Arbor testified that supplies and men were carried over the road free of charge for the Toledo Ice and Coal company.

H. E. Myers, local freight agent of the Pere Marquette railroad, said the Michigan Lake Ice company was the principal shipper of ice over his road but he had no records to show that the company was given a lower rate than other ice shippers.

NEW BULLET FOR ARMY.

It Is Light and Sharp Pointed and Increases Range of Rifle.

Brigadier General Crozier, chief of ordnance in the United States army, said recently that the light, sharp pointed rifle bullet, which experts have been testing for some weeks had shown such satisfactory qualities that it will probably be adopted for use in the new army rifle, replacing the present service bullet, says a special dispatch from Springfield, Mass., to the New York Times.

The principal advantages of the light bullet are its flat trajectory and great penetrating power. On a 1,000 yard range it will be effective against infantry for 600 yards, while cavalry will be exposed for the entire distance. With the present service bullet infantry are out of range for about 700 yards out of 1,000, and at the 500 yard mark cavalrymen would hear the bullet whizzing over their heads.

The new bullet has a muzzle velocity of 2,700 feet per second, the greatest ever attained in a service weapon. At 500 yards it will penetrate white pine for thirty-two inches, as against twenty-six inches for the old bullet.

Another advantage in the light bullet is that it lessens the kick of the rifle. It weighs 150 grains and is fired with 50.5 grains of smokeless powder. The only serious drawback of the new bullet is that it is less accurate than that of the old one, but General Crozier hopes to remedy this by varying the powder charge or by making a slight change in its shape.

MEMORIAL TO JOEL COOK.

Association Started to Build Monument to Revolutionary Soldier.

Judge James B. Cooper, Sr., of Babylon, N. Y., and others have formed the Captain Joel Cook Monument association, whose purpose is to raise a fitting monument to the memory of the boy who was probably the smallest person who fought in the Revolution, says the New York Tribune. Captain Cook's body is now in an unmarked grave at Babylon. Judge Cooper, himself an old man, remembers Captain Cook well, and feels that it is a pity that he should not have been recognized long ere this.

Joel Cook was born on Oct. 12, 1760. He was therefore less than fifteen years old when, on April 18, 1775, Paul Revere made his famous ride. Joel was so small for his age that his earnest entreaties to be permitted to enlist in one of the first regiments raised were laughed at. However, one officer offered to take Joel as a waiter. The youth accepted. A year later he enlisted and carried arms throughout the struggle. In 1812 he raised a company and again fought. After the war he held several political appointments, but he died on Dec. 8, 1851, in abject poverty, and his son had to be sent to the Baptist home.

GIRL'S REMARKABLE SHOT.

Ten-year-old Killed a Deer at a Hundred Yards.

Jean Boalt Wheeler, the ten-year-old daughter of Attorney Charles Stetson Wheeler, and niece of Benjamin Ide Wheeler, president of the University of California, has distinguished herself as a marksman by shooting a deer at 100 yards straight through the heart, says a San Francisco dispatch.

Little Jean was up at her father's country home, the Bend, on the McCloud river, with her parents and Benjamin Ide Wheeler when she made the remarkable shot. The child was on horseback with others of the party and carried a rifle. She was ahead of the rest when 300 feet ahead of her she saw a buck with head high in air.

The animal turned suddenly and was about to bound away into the woods when little Jean raised her rifle and fired. The deer fell dead. It weighed ninety pounds after it was dressed.

Harvesting by Telephone.

J. A. Frambers of Oxford, Mo., has put the telephone to a new and novel use, says the Kansas City Journal. Summer county is covered with a network of rural telephones. All told there are more than 3,000 telephones in the county. Mr. Frambers kept his thrashing outfit in constant communication with these telephones. He is a member of the Oxford Mutual company and has had a telephone installed in his cook shack. Whenever Mr. Frambers moves his thrashing outfit on to a farmer's premises his cook shack telephone is immediately connected with the telephone wire running along the highway, and no matter how far out in the country he may be Mr. Frambers and his cook are in constant communication with the grocers, butchers and other supply houses. Mr. Frambers can also call up almost any farmer in the county to talk thrashing to him, and the "next" man on Mr. Frambers' list can, simply by using the telephone in his home, learn just when the thrashermen will arrive at his place.

Planting For Cross Ties.

The railroads have to come to it sooner or later. Cross tie wood is becoming so scarce that the cost of it is almost prohibitive. Some of the railroad companies have started in to cultivate trees to be used as cross ties, says the Mobile Register. The Louisville and Nashville company is one of these. One of the plantations is near Carney station, Baldwin county, where a tract of a thousand acres of former forest land is now cleared for replanting. The effort will be made to get the greatest crop possible to the acreage. The ground was plowed and harrowed and worked as if grain or cotton were to be planted. The intention is to push the tree growth and get a record for preference. The trees will be planted seven feet apart in two directions.

S.S.S. HEALS OLD SORES

Every old sore exists because of a polluted condition of the blood. This vital fluid is infected with some germ or old taint, or perhaps has been left in an unhealthy condition from a long spell of sickness, or the trouble may be inherited. The poisonous germs and matter with which the blood is saturated force an outlet on the face, arms, legs or other part of the body and form a sore or ulcer. This being continually fed by a polluted blood supply, grows red and angry, festers and eats into the surrounding flesh until it becomes what is very aptly termed an "old sore." The relief produced by external treatment is only temporary. The only treatment that can do any real good is a blood purifier that goes to the very root of the trouble and removes the cause, and for this purpose nothing equals S. S. S. It drives out from the circulation all morbid matter and germs, even reaching down to hereditary taints, and by cleansing the blood heals old sores permanently. S. S. S. not only removes all taints and poisons from the blood but builds it up by supplying it with the rich, health-sustaining properties it needs to keep the system in health. S. S. S. makes pure blood and a sore must heal if the blood is pure and healthy. Book on Sores and Ulcers and medical advice free. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

ANNUAL REUNION OF COPLIN FAMILY

ENJOYABLE GATHERING AT THE HOME OF W. R. GEIGER WEST OF HEBRON.

Next Meeting Will be at Pleasantville—Guests Included People From Newark.

Hebron, O., Aug. 15.—The annual reunion of the Coplin family which was to have been held at the home of Jacob Coplin in Zanesville on Thursday, August 9, on account of a death in the family, was held at the beautiful home of W. R. Geiger, west of Hebron. Four long tables were placed under the shade of the maples in the lane which leads to the house. Around these the family and friends gathered to partake of the dainties that had been prepared. Owing to a heavy rain some of the late arrivals could not enjoy the out door feast and partook of the repast in the dining room.

After listening to some beautifully rendered whistling solos by Mrs. E. S. Randolph of Newark, those present again sought Dame Nature's roof under which they listened to some declamations and a number of extemporaneous speeches, all of which were well rendered and suitable for the occasion. After a vote of thanks to Mr. Geiger and family, the election of officers for the coming year, the singing of old time songs which brought back the childhood days of the older people, the invitation given by Caleb Ruffner of Pleasantville, O., to meet at his home on Thursday, August 10, was accepted. As the evening shades drew nigh the guests departed, bidding their host and hostess good bye and hoping that they might live to enjoy another day such as the one that had just passed.

Those present were Viola Spittler, J. T. Kramer, Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Ruffner and family, C. A. Ruffner, Eva Line Spittler, Xenia F. Spittler, Mollie Coplin, Maggie Ruffner, Cynthia Ruffner, Mable Ruffner, Mada Kramer Fred and Paul Ruffner of Pleasantville; Emma A. Page and B. M. Page of Millersport; Mr. and Mrs. T. T. DRILLING FOR OIL AT BUCKEYE LAKE

LEIB ISLAND CONTROVERSY HAS REACHED STATE BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.

Oil Company Will Have a Hard Time Crossing State Land With the Pipe Line.

Columbus, Aug. 15.—Representatives of the Oil and Gas company, to which Mrs. Elizabeth Leib gave a lease upon the island in Buckeye Lake which the state legislature gave her as a present, appeared before the state board of public works, Tuesday, asking permission to lay a pipe line across state property so as to convey the oil and gas from the island. They were given a very chilly reception and no doubt the application will be rejected without consideration.

George H. Watkins, one of the members of the board, has spent a good deal of time lately inquiring into the matter and getting the sentiment of people interested in property in and about Buckeye Lake, and he is unqualifiedly opposed to granting any such right to the company or to any company. Speaking of the matter he said that it had been the policy of the state not to permit operations for oil and gas on state land for the reason that to do so would be to spoil it for the purpose for which it had been set apart by legislation—for a permanent park for the people of the state.

"It was a great mistake," said he, "when the legislature by special act gave this island to Mrs. Leib as the state's highest legal right to the land. What mattered it if her husband had paid some one for it, that person had absolutely no title, as her husband could have ascertained very easily. She might just as well have been given a part of the state house grounds so far as title is concerned."

But that is done. The legislature took the matter out of the hands of the state canal commission and gave her the land. It is certainly bad faith on her part to do with the land thus given her, what the state has determined shall not be done with any land that it retains there bore for oil and gas—especially since the operations on her island will damage the lake just as the state has determined should not be done. It may be said as a legal proposition that she can make whatever lease she wants on her island and that can probably not be resisted at law by the state; but when it comes to asking anything from the state to enable her or the lessees to carry out their plans it is a different matter.

"I don't see how the oil and gas company can get its oil or gas from the island without crossing state property. There is where the state still has some control over the matter and you may be sure that we will exercise that control. Neither Mrs. Leib nor her lessees come before the board with good grace asking any favors. I shall oppose the proposition to give them the privilege of crossing the state land with all my power. We want to prevent the operation for oil and gas on this state park if we can do it any way. The legislature has greatly crippled us in the matter by giving the title to this land to Mrs. Leib, but perhaps we can indirectly control the matter after all."

Mrs. Leib's husband was a squatter on the island. The state canal commission, when R. M. Rownd was its president, discovered the fact and instituted suit to oust Leib about that time. Having been an old soldier his widow managed to stir up a great deal of sympathy. Upon that her whole claim was based. The courts held against her. Then she appealed to the legislature where her sympathy claim had more effect and secured the passage of the bill. The far-reaching effect of that ill-considered legislation is now felt.

DRIVEN INSANE THROUGH WORRY

DAIRYMAN LOSES HIS MIND BECAUSE OF REPORT MADE BY INSPECTOR.

Farmer Throw Bottle—Murderer Gets Away—Workmen Killed—Ohio Briefs.

Toledo, O., Aug. 15.—Frank J. Ludwig of Ludwig Bros., Toledo dairymen, was driven insane because of worry over the report of Milk Inspector William Schurtz. In Schurtz's report 19 emaciated cattle were charged to Ludwig's dairy, which was afterward found erroneous. Ludwig worried constantly over the error and the loss of business occasioned by it, and in spite of the corrections made by the newspapers a physician declared him afflicted with acute dementia. Application was made for a hearing in insanity.

Farmer Could Throw. Wooster, O., Aug. 15.—An unknown young man said to be a resident of Cleveland, was hurt badly about the head, east of this city. He was one of four in an automobile. As they sped along the road one of the party threw an empty beer bottle at Kansas Smith, farmer. Smith caught the bottle and hurled it back at the party, striking one of them on the head and cutting a great gash. The party stopped at a farm house and secured cloths to tie the injured man's head, but refused to give his name.

Murderer Escaped. Steubenville, O., Aug. 15.—Standing within ten feet of Tony Marro, 50, as he sat on a door step at Mingo Junction, O., Tony Basso poured five bullets into the body of Marro, who died in a short time. Basso, with the empty revolver, kept friends of Marro at bay till he escaped. The men had been tussling playfully and Marro struck Basso with a piece of coke, cutting his cheek.

Workmen Killed. Youngstown, O., Aug. 15.—W. L. Neville, a molder, was killed and Michael Burch, a laborer, hurt by the breaking of a crane at a local steel mill. William Rouz, a millwright at a hoop works, was caught in a revolving shaft and dashed to death.

Fell From Train. Lima, O., Aug. 15.—Daniel Sullivan, 48, a contractor claiming Muncie, Ind., as his home, missed his footing while boarding a passenger train here en route to a brother in Miamisburg. He was instantly killed and horribly mangled.

Drank Lye. Washington, C. H., O., Aug. 15.—Edward Lindsey, a prominent citizen, drank a quantity of lye with suicidal intent. He cannot recover. He was a prey to melancholy.

Newark Guests There. Lancaster, O., Aug. 15.—A delightful hay larder party was enjoyed by a company of young people who drove to the country home of Henry Hoffman, near Pleasantville. Among those in the party were Miss Ethel Shaeffer and Charles Dean of Newark.

GLENN'S AMBITION. Coshocton, Aug. 15.—The announcement is made that County Prosecutor James Glenn will not be a candidate for re-election this fall, but will stand for the nomination of judge of Common Pleas in the district composed of Coshocton, Wayne and Holmes counties on the Republican ticket.

ATE SALMON AND DIED. Lancaster, Aug. 15.—Mrs. Johanna Connors, aged 64, died at her home in this city yesterday after having eaten canned salmon. The physicians say death was due to senile bronchitis. Two hours after eating the fish the woman was seized, with violent cramps, from which she was relieved only by death. Four of her children only by death. Four of her children deaths.

TO CREMATE JURIST'S BODY. New Lexington, Aug. 15.—Ex-Prosecutor Judge Martin W. Wolfe, who died of brain trouble has been taken to Cincinnati for cremation.

AN OHIO CIRCUIT. Marion, O., August 15.—W. C. Vail of Hamilton, has closed a contract for the erection of an opera house here. Mr. Vail is manager of a vaudeville circuit comprising Hamilton, Cincinnati, Dayton, Springfield, Akron and Lima. A $10,000 site was purchased.

EYES OF THE WORLD ON WELLMAN FLIGHT BY BALLOON TO THE NORTH POLE

Impending Venture Recalls Andre's Ill-Fated Expedition.

COMPARING THE TWO

Great Strides In Aeronautics Give Present Explorer a Decided Advantage Over Old.

PREPARATIONS FULLY MADE.

American Impressed Every Known Improvement Into Service and is Sanguine of Success.

New York, Aug. 15.—In the largest dirigible airship ever constructed and carrying the greatest cargo ever lifted by an air bag, the second attempt to reach the North Pole by aerial navigation—both within the last decade—is to be made in the next three weeks, when Walter Wellman will start from Dane's Island, one of the northernmost of the Spitzbergen group in the Arctic zone, and head strait for the point which has been sought for centuries.

Mr. Wellman, if all promises and expectations are followed, will rise from the island the latter part of this month or the first of the next, accompanied by four men, in his airship and try to reach the Pole in a dash which he calculates will take him not fewer than seven days nor more than twenty. He will be provisioned for three months and will carry ammunition to shoot bear or stray foxes that he and his party may come across wandering around over the ice floes, if they find it necessary to drop to the earth before the allotted time for the trip expires.

I was on July 11, just nine years ago, that Herr A. Andre, with his co-explorers, Nils Strindberg and Knut Hjalmas Ferdinand Frankel, started out from Amsterdam Island, almost the identical spot whence Wellman will go in an effort to reach the Pole by a quick dash, and was never heard from again. He used an ordinary military balloon, steerable only with guide ropes, in which he had previously made many ascensions, and for his venturesome trip he had at his disposal about $25,000 and the backing of the Swedish government.

Had the King's Support.

Andre was the foremost engineer of that country, was chief examiner in the Royal Patent Office at Stockholm, and his successes as an aeronaut had been so marked that his suggestion of ballooning to the Pole was immediately encouraged by King Oscar who gave $5,000 for the project. Alfred Noble, inventor of dynamite, gave $15,000, and Baron Oscar Dickson, a wealthy Swede, deeply interested in all that concerned Arctic exploration, gave $5,000.

Before Andre set sail on his hazardous undertaking he held the belief—which is also shared by Wellman—that high above the vexed surface winds is a steady gale blowing toward the North Pole without deflection. Furthermore, he believed that this steady current, which would take him, according to his calculations, to the Pole in a week and carry him directly over the point, would land him safely in North America if he kept straight to his course. It would seem that Andre was correct in his theory of the upper air currents. When his balloon was cut away it rose over Amsterdam Island and then swung wildly about like a carrier pigeon, sighting its course. As it reached the higher levels it settled down into a steady posture and then sailed due north, maintaining this course without deviation until out of sight and scudding along before a 22 mile breeze. As it is a question how far a balloon so large as 100 feet in height can be seen with a powerful telescope, the nearness that Andre attained to the Pole can only be conjectured, but it is considered that a conservative estimate would make it about 250 miles.

Andre expected to make one of four landings, aside from his possible descent at the pole. They were: Siberia, about 70 degrees north latitude 135th meridian east longitude; Samoyeden Peninsula, 70 degrees north latitude and 70 east longitude; Alaska, in the vicinity of Cape Barrow, 70 degrees north latitude, 115 west longitude, and British North America, 68 degrees north latitude and 100 west longitude.

Elements of Uncertainty.

Although a step of nearly a decade has been made in the science of aerial navigation since the trip of Andre, and while not in the slightest degree detracting from the nerve and bravery of Mr. Wellman's crew who are to make their picturesque voyage, there are so many elements of uncertainty and impracticability about this latest expedition that scientific men are compelled to look upon it as almost as chimerical as that attempted by Andre, and they are making the closest comparisons between the methods used by the Swedish scientist, his theories and successes, and those to be followed by Wellman.

In the first place it is pointed out that dirigible ballooning is yet in its infancy, and not one man has been known to make a flight, even in these temperate zones, that in point of time has exceeded more than ten or twelve hours. Roy Knabenshue and Leo Stevens may be said to be the most successful airship navigators in this country, but even their experiments fall far short of the demands that will be made upon the Wellman ship.

The longest balloon trip, in point of length of suspension, was made by Count Henri de la Vaulx, on October 13 and 14, 1901, when he remained in the air 42 hours trying to cross the Mediterranean Sea, in a test made under the auspices of the French government. From a flight of 42 hours in warm climates to 163 hours, or 489 hours, the longest that Mr. Wellman estimates his craft will be able to remain in the air, in regions where the condensation of the gas must necessarily be very rapid, is a long jump, to be accomplished in a trip that in the event of its failure or sudden disaster must mean death to five men.

Great Danger from Storms.

Men in scientific circles say that granting Wellman will be able to keep his airship aloft longer than any previous aeronaut by generating hydrogen gas in the flight, for which purpose he is carrying tons of iron filings and sulphuric acid, the greatest danger that balloonists face will still be before him, but as an even more exaggerated peril. This is in the matter of rains and snow storms, for even the Arctic regions up as far as the 86th parallel are not free from them in the summer months. Wellman's airship, being 52 feet wide and cigar shaped, will present a huge shoulder to a storm, and must necessarily accumulate hundreds of pounds of snow or ice, which will force its nose to the ground. There can be no possible way of overcoming this, it is pointed out, unless by generating an impossible volume of gas and forcing it under the point at which the weight is, and in this event the pressure would be so terrible and so uneven as to burst the gas bag.

In having a steerable airship Wellman has one advantage over Andre, but as Andre's theory of the upper air seemed to be borne out this advantage is hardly given much weight in comparison, as dirigible airships are dirigible only in mild breezes. Knabenshue was prevented from making an ascent in New York city only last week by a 20-mile breeze, and as gales are frequent in the Arctic that rip and tear a ship's rigging it is hardly to be expected that Wellman's craft can be driven into a heavy wind without crushing in the front of the air envelope. Andre's balloon was not unsteerable. He used guide or drag ropes by which he was able to turn his balloon from five to thirty degrees from the direction of the wind. The theory of the drag rope is that a long rope suspended from the car of the balloon will swing in a line directly back from the middle of the basket. If raised and lowered from the side of the car in the direction to which it is desired to have the balloon travel it will drag out in the heavier atmosphere below and swing the car around until the rope is pulling straight from the rear again. In this way a balloon may be made to leave the course of the wind according to the swiftness of the breeze and the frequency with which the rope is raised and lowered.

Dogs as the Mainstay.

Many more dangers and shortcomings are pointed out in the Wellman expedition by men who have been into the polar region. Never before has an expedition gone into the frozen lands without dogs, the very animals that do the greatest amount of work on such an adventure. Lieut. Robert E. Peary, who has made several trips and is now on his last, realizing the value and faithfulness of the little shaggy haired creatures, has taken 200 of them with him. Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, on his remarkable journey of 1,500 miles on sledges, had with him only one human companion, Johansen, but he took with him 28 dogs for the three sledges. Wellman carries with him two motor sleds, run by gasoline, as yet impracticable machines. At best a motor sled needs smooth ice for travelling and all ice of that character that has been encountered in the polar sea probably could be put in a narrow road between New York city and Philadelphia. Motor sleds are not only impracticable but impossible over surfaces such as are found where the pressure ice, drift and hummock ice piles and packs up for miles at a time, compelling the men to lift the sledges to help the dogs over the bad places. In many expeditions it has been found necessary to virtually carry the sledges for miles.

Wellman takes with him a non-sinkable, indestructible metal box 17 feet long, which at best certainly must be a handicap. "It cannot be carried on the motor sleds even if they could cover the territory, and will be too heavy for human beings to haul for miles over the hummocks and pressure mounds that rise from twelve to forty feet in height. Neither will the boat be able to carry the motor sleds over open water.

The Kayak Indispensable.

Explorers of the Arctic Sea heretofore have found the kayak, that strange little craft of the Esquimaux, which is light and yet able to stand such terrific usage, indispensable. It can be strapped on to the top of an ordinary dog sled carrying five or six hundred pounds, pushed off into the water, sledge and all, when the open lanes are encountered, and float the whole burden safely to the other side. These kayaks are generally made by the explorers themselves of rattan and bamboo, covered with cloth treated with a paraffine and oils to make it impervious to water, and are in great contrast to the heavy metallic boat and sleds to be used by the Wellman party.

Wellman's airship will sustain the enormous weight, in her cargo of human beings and all the instruments known to modern aeronautics, of 20,000 pounds—an average of 4000 pounds to each man. Andre carried about 3,000 pounds—an average of about 1,000 pounds to each man.

One feature of the present expedition which is clearly a great advantage over that of Andre is in the means of communication with the world that is left behind. Wellman will have three wireless telegraph stations—one at Hammerfest, Norway; one in the Spitzbergen Islands and one on his airship. Already he has sent a dispatch to the President to establish the record of the first wireless out of the Arctic zone. This means of communication, if the instruments do not fail, will of course keep the latest polar explorers in constant and immediate touch with the points of supply, and in case of disaster will enable them to call for aid and give directions for the relief party to follow. Andre took with him, to give a record of his flight, two crates of pigeons and a half hundred metallic, airtight bottles with his initials on them. The king of Sweden sent out circulars through the north of his country posting a reward of $5,000 for any information that would lead to establishing the success or failure of Andre's trip.

Overwhelmed Suddenly.

Not the slightest trace of the daring explorer and his two companions has ever been had. From the fact that none of his pigeons or metallic bottles has ever been picked up, it is taken for granted that the trip met with disaster so sudden as to prevent the liberation of the birds or the separation of the bottles from the package in which they were bound. Balloonists and scientists are pretty generally of the opinion that certain atmospheric conditions were met that instantly overcame the balloon, or that it was caught in a sudden storm of rain and ice and crushed to disaster in the open sea.

One theory advanced by those who are in doubt as to the outcome of Wellman's adventure is that, being at such a great height, with no natural or artificial means of keeping themselves warm, the men will be frozen to death by the intense coldness at that height. Even on the ice Dr. Nansen found the temperature ranged from 12 degrees above zero, Fahrenheit, to 50 degrees below. The limited space in the air will admit of no physical exercise to keep the blood in proper circulation.

Wellman at 82 Degrees.

Wellman's highest point was Crown Prince Rudolph Island, about 82 degrees, which he attained in 1898 and 1899. This was his second expedition. Four years before he had reached the Seven Islands, about 81 degrees north latitude and 20 east longitude. This is just off North East Land, a division of the Spitzbergen group, and approximately is less than one hundred miles further north than the spot from which he is to make his third attempt.

Surpassing Wellman's farthest north is, of course, Dr. Nansen's wonderful trip in the Fram, the staunch vessel which he built himself on lines calculated to withstand the terrific shocks that a vessel would receive from the crushing and breaking ice. Dr. Nansen and his crew started out of the Gulf of Nordvik, on the Taimyr Peninsula, in 1893, and after skirting off the coast for several hundred miles to the New Siberia Islands, about the 75th parallel of latitude and the 150th meridian of east longitude, turned on his tracks and headed straight for the Pole. He pounded his way into the ice until his ship was caught fast and could move neither forward nor backward.

After drifting with the floes for more than a year Dr. Nansen and a sturdy follower, Johansen, took three dog sledges and twenty-eight dogs and pushed on from the ship. They left the boat in 1895, having little expectation that they would ever see her again, and after plodding and struggling over ice floes, through open lanes of water and across ice hummocks and mounds that stretched before them for miles they reached the highest point ever accomplished by man up to that time.

Nansen's Farthest North.

They got to 86 degrees 14 minutes north and turned back. Dr. Nansen had figured loosely his supply of food, and to have gone further north over ice that was piling up worse and worse meant that they could never have got back to the ship. After heading south again Dr. Nansen and Johansen could not find the ship and were compelled to make for Franz Josef Land. They were on the ice for fifteen months, with their dogs dying one at a time and the ice breaking up faster than it had been, making their return journey much more difficult and perilous than had been their journey north.

After covering nearly fifteen hundred miles Dr. Nansen and Johansen reached the northern part of Franz Josef Land and pushed on to Elmwood Island, the lowest in the group, where their eventful trip ended. In the meantime the Fram had been carried in the drift ice down toward the Spitzbergen coast and so far enough finally made its way to Dane's Island, from which point the Wellman expedition is to start. The vessel had covered between five thousand and six thousand miles of the most wonderful expedition that has ever gone into the little known region.

In 1900 the Duke of the Abruzzi reached the highest point ever recorded—86 deg. 33 min. 49 sec.—but as the venture accomplished only fifteen miles or so more than Nansen's the latter's is always taken as the standard of polar exploration.

Not many other polar explorers have passed Wellman's mark in the three centuries that human beings have been sacrificing their lives to attain the most northern point. In 1871 Julius Payer, heading an expedition under the auspices of the Austrian government, discovered Petermann Land, in the eighty-third degree.

WEDDING AT ASSEMBLY HALL

MISS SCHONBERG BECOMES THE BRIDE OF M. GOLDBERGER OF ZANESVILLE.

Bride Wore Beautiful Gown of Cream Colored Satin With Costly Pearl Ornaments.

One of the most largely attended an elaborate social functions of the season took place at Assembly Hall Tuesday evening when Miss Sadie Schonberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Schonberg of South Fourth street, became the wife of Mr. David Goldberger, a prominent and wealthy young business man of Zanesville. A large number of guests were in attendance, and the ceremony was extremely impressive.

At just 6 o'clock the orchestra, located in the balcony at the extreme north end of the hall, amid rich clusters of ferns, palms and smilax, of which the walls were a mass, began the Lohengrin wedding march, to which the beautiful bride on the arm of her father, took her place at the altar, where they were met by Mr. Goldberger, the bridegroom, accompanied by the ushers, Mr. Fred Schonberg, Henry Frankel, Philip Yocco and Isaac Goldberger. The service was pronounced in a beautiful and eloquent manner by the Rev. Dr. Klein assisted by Rabbi Schefflen of Zanesville.

The altar was a gorgeous affair in itself, being decorated in palms, ferns and budding flowers, while the canopy was a picture of beauty with its clusters of flowers and rich foliage. The bridegroom's reception corner was a mass of potted plants which seemed to stand out in bold relief making an effect brilliant, yet pleasant to the eye.

The bride was attired in a beautiful gown of cream satin trimmed in lace, over which was worn embroidered chiffon, the whole being set off with beautiful and costly pearl ornaments.

Miss Mollie Schonberg, maid of honor, and sister of the bride, wore a blue satin and China silk over a pearl suffle made of real pearls, and trimmed in hand made imported lace.

The other sister of the bride, Miss Bertha Schonberg, was attired in pink taffeta over which was a beautiful design in pink chiffon set off with a pearl necklace.

Immediately following the impressive wedding ceremony the guests repaired to the dining hall where a sumptuous banquet awaited them and which reflected much credit upon Mr. Emil Kohn who presided over the banquet tables. After the repast the ball room drew the attention of the many guests, the greater number of whom did not depart until a late hour.

Immediately following the wedding ball, Mr. and Mrs. Goldberger departed for a wedding tour. Their plans for the future were not announced, but it is believed that their future home will be made in Zanesville.

Among the out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Frankel, Rochester, N. Y.; Mr. Abe Smith, Rochester; Mr. and Mrs. E. Frankel, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Frankel of Cleveland, O.; Mr. Harry H. BRIDE IS KILLED ON HONEYMOON

SAD NEWS RECEIVED IN NEWARK BY GUESTS AT SCHONBERG WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. Frankel at Mackinac Island on Wedding Trip When Accident Occurred.

Mackinac Island, Mich., Aug. 15.—Mrs. Benjamin A. Frankel of Utica, N. Y., who was on a honeymoon trip, was killed at Fort Holmes. While descending the stairs of the observatory at the fort she tripped and fell a distance of thirty feet. Her arm was broken and she sustained internal injuries, from which the doctors could give no relief. Mrs. Frankel, who was Miss Katherine Demill of Herkimer, N. Y., was married Wednesday and was a passenger on the steamer Juniata, Mr. Frankel is prominent in Utica, being connected with the traction company.

The above message was received in this city and was the only feature to mar the pleasures of the Schonberg-Golddberger wedding. Mr. Louis Frankel and son both of Rochester, N. Y., mother and brother of Mr. Benjamin Frankel, whose bride met with the fatal accident, being in attendance at the wedding here.

Before friends in this city had learned of the tragic death of Mrs. Frankel, a message was sent here telling the details and asking that the sad news be kept from both the elder Mrs. Frankel and her son until after the wedding ceremony, which was done. They had not yet been notified of the trouble and little realized that while they were enjoying the occasion of the wedding of Miss Schonberg, the young bride of their son and brother was lying cold in death several hundred miles distant.

TEACHERS MUST GET $40 A MONTH

If Funds Won't Stand It a New Levy Must be Made—Teachers Not to do Janitor Work.

Attorney General Wade Ellis has decided that in school districts where the levy has been fixed too low to raise enough money to pay teachers a minimum of $40 monthly, as provided in the Duval law, the board of education can be compelled to make a new levy.

This is not effective in districts where the school enumeration was too low. It was the intention of the law to anticipate this by state aid, but no appropriation was made, and the teachers will have to be content with the best salary they can get.

School teachers cannot be compelled to do janitor work, according to the attorney general. In some sections boards of education have attempted to require it as a condition of getting a contract to teach.

Ohio laws give authority to teachers to dismiss their schools for any legal holiday. General Ellis says when this is done no deduction for absence can be made from the teacher's pay.

REUNION OF SEVENTH REGIMENT

Adjutant Tiffin Gillmore of the 7th O. V. I. Spanish-War service, received a copy of the Gazette of Athens, Ohio, stating that Company B, in command of Capt. Loury, will be at the reunion of the 7th Ohio at Chillicothe, O., on Sept. 29 and 30 with 80 per cent of their membership. When Newark and Hebron show up at Chillicothe the boys of the old 7th will find that Licking county will be handsomely represented. The boys of Co. G will take with them the regimental post flag, the one copy of "Old Glory" that made the soldiers of the First Brigade take off their hats when it was raised or lowered. Every comrade of the 7th Ohio will be glad to see their "old colors" again and they will be surely there.

FINE SERMON

At the Salvation Army Tent Tuesday Night by the Rev. Joseph A. Bennett.

The Salvation Army tent meeting at the Sixth street ground was attended by 400 people Tuesday night and was one of the most successful and most enjoyable of the series. The speaker of the evening was Rev. Jos. A. Bennett, pastor of the Fifth street Baptist church who was assisted by about 25 members of the Baptist church choir. Mr. Bennett delivered a powerful sermon speaking from the text, "Remember Lot's wife."

The Salvationists will conduct tonight's meeting without help, but on Thursday and Friday nights Captain MacMahon of Mt. Vernon will be here and on Sunday the evangelists, Mr. and Mrs. Swartz will assist in the services.

GREAT INTEREST IN NEW AIRLINE

IN RAILWAY CIRCLES PROPOSED ROAD IS ATTRACTING MUCH ATTENTION.

David Benner Becomes Seriously Ill in Shop—Conductors' Picnic. Railway News.

Great interest was taken by local railroad men in the Advocate's telegram from Pittsburgh yesterday quoting Mr. Jos. Ramsey, who confirmed the report of the great project of connecting Chicago and New York by an air line electric road.

In railway circles and among shipping interests the proposed Keystone airline is the most interesting matter in many a day. A press dispatch from Pittsburgh gives the following additional information:

The incorporation papers for consolidation of three railroads in different parts of Pennsylvania to be filed at Harrisburg will constitute the formal announcement of a project of prominent bankers, with Joseph Ramsey, Jr., former president of the Washash railroad to build a low grade double track from New York to Chicago by way of Pittsburgh, which will cost about $150,000,000.

The new Keystone Airline will traverse the important bituminous coal fields of central Pennsylvania, controlled by the Pennsylvania railroad and will also pierce the anthracite region throughout its length. It will not only be the shortest line through Pennsylvania but it will cross the summit of the Allegheny mountains, 400 feet lower than the Pennsylvania, and will have very easy curves and remarkable low grades for a mountain line.

Complete surveys have been made and it is expected work preliminary to grading and construction next spring will begin this fall. The road will require three years to construct. It is contemplated to operate with electric locomotives from the beginning. The road will be known as the New York, Pittsburgh and Chicago Airline, and will be 65 miles shorter to New York than the Pennsylvania, and 108 miles shorter than the shortest line between New York and Chicago.

RATE BILL

Being Discussed by Railway Lawyers At Atlantic City.

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 15.—More than 60 lawyers, representing all the larger railroads east of the Mississippi river, particularly those traversing the territory south of the Ohio river and the New England states, assembled here to make a detailed study of the provisions of the railroad rate bill, which goes into effect Aug. 29. Members of the conference consist of the chief counsels, general solicitors and other members of the legal departments of railroad corporations.

Indictment Still Alive.
San Francisco, Aug. 15.—A warrant was issued for the arrest of William H. Vice, formerly coast passenger agent for the Union Pacific road. Three years ago Vice disappeared and an indictment charging him with the embezzlement of $10,000 was returned by a grand jury. It is said by the police that Vice went to Honduras and that following the conflagration in April he returned here believing the indictment against him was burned.

Firemen Demand Helpers.

Lancaster, Pa., Aug. 15.—The Pennsylvania railroad company is having trouble with its firemen on the new low grade railroad. The firemen living in Columbia held a meeting and decided not to fire on the road unless given a helper. Orders were received for 30 firemen to proceed to Enola, but not one responded. It is stated a meeting of the firemen at Enola, and Harrisburg will be held to reach the same determination. The 15 miles of continuous up grade on one stretch of the road is claimed to be too much for one fireman. It is also claimed that a round trip means the shoveling of at least 65,000 pounds of coal, and the men say they cannot stand it.

Conductors' Picnic.

Remember the Order of Railway Conductors' picnic at Buckeye Lake Wednesday, August 22. The committee of arrangements consists of J. H. Ellis, R. G. Goodlet and S. P. Moore.

Became Seriously Ill.

David H. Benner, aged 17 years, an apprentice in the mould department of the foundry at the B. & O. shops, became seriously ill while at work Wednesday morning about 4 o'clock, and it was necessary to send for an ambulance to convey him to his home on South Second street. Bowers & Criss Bros. answered the call and after arriving at the young man's home, it was learned that he has suffered from internal hemorrhages and that this is probably the cause of his present illness. The young man, who is delicious most of the time now, is feared to be in a serious condition.
